

Auckland's vision to become the world's most liveable city by 2040

Sala B, Rio State Pavillion, Athletes Park

20 June 2012, 16.45-17.15

Background

Since its inception on 1 November 2010, the Auckland Council has provided a new model of local government in New Zealand enabled by the largest amalgamation of local government in Australasia. It gives Auckland unprecedented opportunity to plan an integrated sustainable future, and to be the world's most liveable city.

Auckland is a case study in transformational change at speed. This session outlines the Auckland Plan which sets the long-term strategic direction for Auckland growth, development and social, environmental, economic and cultural well-being. Focus will be on three transformational areas:

- Auckland's low carbon development through green growth
- City centre master planning
- Auckland Council's leadership and building legacy opportunities through Rugby World Cup 2011

Sport, art, culture, pride and New Zealand's clean green brand have been successfully used to engage and generate community support; to inspire passion among Aucklanders for a sustainable city. The 'how' of what we do is critical to success.
